

FORMICA LIFESEAL WORKTOPS

PG Bison manufactures a range of products designed for various applications. Each product has different performance characteristics determined by the product's manufacturing process, mechanical properties and intended use.

Lately, there is a high demand from the market for Formica LifeSeal Worktops with gloss surfaces.

Using a gloss surface for a horizontal, medium to high traffic application or in an area exposed to abrasive wear, such as a kitchen, creates a greater than normal risk of the product being marked or scratched.

Gloss surfaces are extremely smooth and reflect more light compared to matt surfaces. They therefore have much less concealing power and the slightest mark becomes much more noticeable.

With any product PG Bison supplies, factors including, but not limited to, fair wear and tear, inappropriate use, poor upgrading, poor installation, mechanical damage beyond PG Bison's control and using the product in an application that exceeds its intended use or realistic expectations of product performance are beyond the control of PG Bison and therefore not within PG Bison's scope to resolve.

Should you find a PG Bison product that does not conform to its specifications, please call our Customer Service Centre on 0860 579 196 or message us via our Contact Us page on our website at www.pgbison.co.za

PG Bison reserves the right to inspect the product in situ or a sample thereof and to test the product in order to verify the claim.

Should a product be found to be defective, PG Bison shall only replace the defective material. Any labour or additional costs required to replace the material shall be for the expense of the customer.

PG Bison may, at their sole discretion, amend these terms and conditions at any time, without notice, and such amendments shall be deemed to have taken effect from the date of publication of the revised terms and conditions on the PG Bison website.
